How we deal with Compliments or Complaints

If you have a complaint (or a compliment) about the Council, we would like to hear from you. This notice tells you how to complain, and what happens to your complaint on receipt. It also tells you who deals with the complaint, how you can be represented, when a decision is made and how you will be notified of this. Feedback from our residents, who we aim to serve efficiently and effectively, is the only way we can continually improve our services.

We aim:

- to make it easy for anyone to make a complaint
- to solve problems as quickly as possible
- to prevent problems from happening again, and
- to encourage good practice

How to contact us with your compliment or complaint

You can contact the Council by telephone, in writing or by email. A form is available which you can fill in and send back to us. This document explains the procedure which will be followed once your complaint has been received. Contact details is also attached.

What we will do when we hear from you

We will deal with any comments about the Council as quickly as possible. We will investigate the complaint fully. We may be able to give you an answer straight away, or we may need more time to investigate what you have told us. We will contact you within 20 working days of us hearing from you and either give you a full answer or give you a progress report and explain why we need more time to investigate further. We will also tell you when you can expect a full answer. Your complaint will in the first instance be investigated by the Clerk of the council. If you remain dissatisfied, then your complaint will be dealt with by the full council. If you have a complaint, we hope we will be able to find out what went wrong and take steps to make sure it won't happen again.

It will not always be appropriate to deal with all complaints from members of the public under a complaints procedure. Below are examples of complaints which will require special consideration and where we may engage other procedures or bodies. If this is the case, then we will advise you of this.
